Lenovo is expected to release at least 9 new Motorola-branded smartphones this year. Sitting at the top of the range is the Moto Z2 series which will support its modular Moto Mod accessories.

The Moto Z Play is a decent premium mid-range device which is quite thin and it can last a full day thanks to its frugal Snapdragon 625 processor and a 3,510 mAh battery. For the new Moto Z2 Play, it has gone thinner in size and as a result, it sacrifices a part which made the original Z Play great.
