Huawei makes great smartphones and that's evident from their P9 and P10 flagship series but these are high-end devices that tend to come with price tags that are equally high. However, there is a way to get basically the same experience as a Huawei flagship but at a much lower cost.

That's where the honor flagships come in and this year it will be called the honor 9. Since it's launching next week, we thought we'd share with you guys everything we know so far about this upcoming smartphone.
