

From smartphone to air filter now water filter

Written by Editor

Friday, 17 July 2015 01:16 - Last Updated Friday, 17 July 2015 01:22

Sometime last year Xiaomi launched their own WiFi enabled Air Purifier , and now they have just released a brand new water purifier that looks almost identical. Named the Mi Water Purifier, the water filtration device is aimed at getting you clean water fast without taking up too much space in the kitchen.

Health is a pretty big concern for the average Chinese citizen, given that the water is not treated well enough to make it directly drinkable, which is common in most Asian countries. As such, water filters are pretty much a household necessity.

More Here